november horoscopes

The early part of the month looks to be fraught with ups and downs including a possible false alarm around a relationship situation. Things are not helped by Mercury changing direction on the 6th – a planetary phenomenon which often seems to put a spanner in the works! Yet there is an emergence of a new energy around the 17th, when Mars enters into the sign of Capricorn, where it shines. It appears that, in spite of any setbacks, a new day is truly possible and some fine progress can be made. There is also the potential for a rival to become stronger, so it could be wise to think very carefully about which challenges to take on.

AERIES

You may not be convinced that you are building strength at the moment yet, slowly, but surely, you have been. It is likely to become more obvious from just after the middle of November, when your ruling planet moves signs, that you are getting on top of a situation. You may even be given some sort of formal acknowledgement!

TAURUS

Challenges from outer planets, Uranus and Pluto, to Venus indicate disquiet at the start of the month, but could provide the short, sharp shocks needed in order to break a habit or move out of a downward spiral. A Jupiter connection on the 9th means you can quickly refocus and begin the decisive move towards a happier way of being.

GEMINI

Not only is Mercury in your opposite sign at the moment – which does not easily make things fall your way – but the planet is also due to move to a backward path from November 6th. Brace yourself for a somewhat bumpy ride, then! It may simply boil down to needing to put time into places and projects you had not expected.

CANCER

You may be able to cope with the current cycles of change quite a bit better than those around you this month. It seems that you are already in tune with a need to do things differently, which stands you in good stead. Remember that even just a little bit of progress in a difficult area is worth noting!

LEO

This is often a naturally more difficult time of year for you because of the reduction in natural light. A connection between the Sun and Mercury on the 17th encourages you to find some kind of new stimulus. The mind needs nurture and guidance to help it thrive, so give yourself whatever you now need in order to do the same.

VIRGO

Something that you have been putting off will almost certainly need attention from around November 6th when Mercury turns to retrograde motion. Whilst this may at first seem like an irritating distraction from “normal life” or the plans you’ve been making, it could prove to be refreshing and uplifting once you accept what is required and embrace the project fully.

LIBRA

An uneasy atmosphere dominates the start of the month with your ruling planet, Venus, sharply confronted by both Uranus and Pluto. Whilst you may have no way to control outside forces, you can work towards greater internal harmony. So aim to let go of the impulse to find answers “out there” and turn inwards to find a place of eventual calm.

SCORPIO

Whilst you may have been trying hard to find peace, a Pluto-Venus clash on November 3rd suggests that unresolved issues will be surfacing. Whether relating to minor niggles or a major trauma, this is a sign that feelings and thoughts need to be expressed and acknowledged. Then you can let the dust settle and calmly decide your next step.

SAGITTARIUS

When Jupiter is in retrograde motion – as it is now – it is not at full strength, which may also be how you feel for a while. As you try to make progress with various interests, rather than telling yourself something negative, or attempting to reach peaks you cannot climb, try to focus on kindness to yourself and making the challenges easier.

CAPRICORN

Pluto in Capricorn continues to call for personal transformation, which means that you can't be complacent about very much for very long. Things are not as you used to recognise them and you must move with the times. It could be necessary to undergo something quite difficult or painful soon, in order to ultimately get to a better place.

AQUARIUS

Aquarius is one of the most fair-minded of signs, yet even you seem to have lately been close to breaking point with tolerance levels. Tension between Uranus and Venus this month reflects excessive polarisation in a relationship. Rather like with elastic you may need to let go and find the middle ground, in order to reach a better place overall.

PISCES

Just about any situation that has had a plodding pattern to it could seem a lot easier once Neptune moves to forward motion on November 11th. It seems that you have waited very patiently indeed for change and now this change is finally on the way. It could also seem like waking up from a long sleep and seeing life anew!

2112 adam

Adam is a medium, clairvoyant and clairaudient. He comes from a psychic family bloodline and has been gifted from childhood. He has been president of his church for 5 years and does many platform demonstrations in and out of his local area. His background has seen him studying Wicca/Pagan beliefs, mythology, astrology and kabbalah as part of his lifelong spiritual development.

As a spiritual adviser he undertakes dream analysis, uses crystals and is a pet medium. Adam has worked hard for many years helping people with a wide range of problems. Adam will tune in to your environment, aura and energies to help you find direction.

From the age of 10 I have been able to hear and sense spirit world. I consider myself to be a natural clairvoyant medium with clairsentient and trance abilities. I have many interests including Art, Photography and Music with a love of travel and experiencing different cultures and ways of life across the world and my future ambition is to travel much more widely.

Another interest of mine is Astronomy. I find it absolutely fascinating to be aware that all the time around us and above is the solar system everything is constantly changing and developing. New information is frequently being discovered. I feel it is an important aspect of our being, altogether giving a much bigger picture.

Hi everyone I'm Yianna, I am a spiritualist clairvoyant, astrologer, and tarot reader and I also have a PhD in criminal psychology. I have been a professional clairvoyant for over 25 years now.

The beauty of being a Clairvoyant and a Psychologist is that when clients ring me for a reading, I can combine my skills to get the clearest insight... This is especially helpful when I focus on relationship issues, particularly when it comes to how we communicate with each other. Human behaviour is the most interesting subject of all, so if you have a problem with someone's attitude, lack of communication, lack of trust, insecurity, give me a call - I'm a very down to earth reader.

Hi I'm Wanda and have been working with spirit all my life. I have carried my psychic ability from childhood and was encouraged by my mother who also was gifted. My aim is to help bring insight and clarity into your life at those difficult times. When relationships fall apart it's hard to understand why and even more difficult to see a way ahead.

Let me, together with spirit help you understand your loved ones more. I can also help with work issues and bring insight especially in times of stress and anxiety. We meet certain people for a reason and we attract challenges into our lives to better ourselves but sometimes it is impossible to see why. Let me help you make sense of times like this and with spirit see what your life's path is. I am a natural clairvoyant and clairaudient with an interest in dreams, magic, numerology and astrology.

Chrystalyte specialises in tarot and astrology and is a well established consultant. She has been hired to write horoscope columns and create tarot services, and has featured regularly on radio stations, within the national and regional press.

Chrystalyte has now gone on to write articles on holistic health and mysticism, and radio slots have included regular predictions and chart profiles for MP's and celebrities. Not one to rest on her laurels Chrystalyte is a founder member of a national tarot body.

Feedback from clients emphasise her natural intuition, psychic perception and grounded, yet compassionate, approach. Chrystalyte has a rare ability to get to the heart of a problem, whilst providing a sense of calm and trust when dealing with sensitive and critical issues.

Katy has over 12 years of experience as a clairvoyant medium and her credits have included TV work, reading for various minor celebrities, magazine work and horoscopes. Katy has taught students how to develop their own psychic ability and she is gifted in many areas such as clairsentience, clairaudience, claircognisence and clairoma.

Katy is very down to earth, with a no nonsense practical attitude - giving information in an undiluted way as she gets it directly from her spirit guides. She is best known for her validations, being able to accurately tune in to names, places, timings and especially how people really feel about things.

what planet is ruling you?

Each sign has a ruling planet - Mercury and Venus both rule two signs. Uranus, Neptune and Pluto were discovered in 1781, 1846 and 1930 respectively – until then Mars ruled Scorpio and Aries and Jupiter ruled Pisces and Sagittarius. Saturn ruled Aquarius & Capricorn and the Sun and the Moon have only ever ruled one sign each. Once Uranus, Neptune and Pluto were accepted into the pantheon rulerships were reassigned and it is possible that new planets in the future will allow Mercury and Venus to rule only one sign each also. The association between ruling planets and peoples characteristics has been accepted for over 2000 years.

Here is what your ruling planet and sign says about your personality:

The Sun (technically a star not a planet) – Leo

The Sun God you are probably most familiar with is Apollo the son of Zeus. He is often depicted as the perfect man, mirroring the brightness and purity of the sun. In terms of astrology The Sun is the ruling planet of Leo and represents generosity of heart, affection, magnanimity, creativity and simple joy. One thing to be cautious of is when it's positive aspects encourage self-esteem to the point it becomes arrogance.

The Moon – Cancer

The Moon rules the sign Cancer; myths associated with Cancer tend to be beautiful and feminine – as Circe she seduced Odysseus and as Hecate she rewarded her favourites with riches. She is also associated with natural childbirth and encourages instinctive thinking and behaviour. The traits are imaginative and sympathetic with a close connection to emotions. On the down side their moods can be up and down – patient one day and narrow minded on another, perhaps at times even unreliable.

Mercury – Gemini & Virgo

Mercury is a direct descendant of Hermes – the messenger of Zeus (the god of travellers). Mercury is usually clad only in a helmet and winged sandals ready for sport.

His characteristics are what you would expect from a Gemini – reasonable, perceptive, versatile and a great communicator and sometimes argumentative. This planet stimulates the mind, but it can make a Virgo nervous, tense, critical and again argumentative.

Venus – Taurus & Libra

Venus – the goddess of love; legendary beauty and with the attributes of Aphrodite. For astrology purposes it is all about love and personal relationships, with a perspective being slanted towards a feminine nature. An interest in art and fashion is likely and the person will have good social graces. Venus encourages tact, gentleness and friendliness but can also make a person indecisive, overly romantic and dependent on others.

Mars – Aries

The planet Mars is associated with Greek god Ares, he was originally a farming god but became better known for being god of war and unfortunate in love. Mars is often depicted as dressed for the battlefield – powerfully built with amorous adventures in mind! As such Mars astrological association is with the masculine side of a person's nature – strong, sexual, assertive, positive and energetic. They just need to keep in check their aggression levels and tendency to be hasty or rude.

Uranus – Aquarius

Uranus – an unattractive mythical figure associated with the Aquarius sign, science fiction and space exploration. At its best this planet encourages independence, versatility and originality. At its worst it encourages eccentricity and rebellion. Keywords for Uranus are disruption, shock and change!

Jupiter – Sagittarius (originally also Pisces)

Jupiter protected the city of Rome, blessing warriors before they went off to battle. He was a frequent thrower of thunderbolts and he had the power to both reward and punish warriors. Astrologically it is now associated with Sagittarius but it used to be Pisces. The planet is primarily concerned with languages and philosophy. It influences optimism, justice and loyalty. People born to this planet should be wary of being conceited, self-indulgent and overly extravagant.

Neptune – Pisces

Neptune administered lakes and rivers as well as being the lordship of the sea inherited from the Greek sea god Poseidon. Water horses drew his chariot and he later became a stallion in order to woo Demeter when she became a mare. This planet is associated with the most watery of signs – Pisces and is connected to the arts like dancing and poetry. It inspires sensitivity, imagination and idealism but on the flip side can cause deceit, indecision and carelessness.

Saturn – Capricorn (originally also Aquarius)

Saturn was originally an agricultural god like Mars but in Rome he oversaw

Saturnalia (a public holiday) – a feast that the Christians adopted and we now know as Christmas. Originally Saturn ruled both Capricorn and Aquarius but now only rules Capricorn. Traditionally Saturn is linked to limitation as in ancient times it marked the limit of the known solar system. But now it is known for tenacity and perseverance. People are probably practical and cautious in equal measure. Looking on the negative side they can be cruel, narrow-minded and even selfish.

Pluto – Scorpio

Pluto was the last of the agricultural gods who ruled over the underworld. He often wore a helmet to render him invisible. No creature was known to have escaped transportation to his land of death beyond the river Styx. The planet he is associated with is Scorpio; despite his connection to death astrologically he is connected to human reproduction. Those born a Scorpio are likely to bury their emotions and they can be secretive, critical and even cruel at times – but an overriding trait is the ability to overcome obstacles.
